

Help Bring Trees to our Community.

Become a Casey Trees Tree Ambassador and make a difference in our community by bringing trees east of the river.

Our Tree Ambassadors are:

- Local (Residents of Wards 7 or 8)
- Paid (stipend + paid incentives)
- Passionate about serving our community
- Trained (plus gain valuable experience)

Casey Trees is a local, urban forestry nonprofit in Washington, DC that is hosting a Tree Ambassador Program to support local residents east of the river in connecting neighbors to FREE tree planting opportunities.

For more information or to apply visit:
caseytrees.org/ambassadors

More information

What does a Tree Ambassador do?

Tree Ambassadors, residents of Wards 7 or 8, engage neighbors and residents about getting free trees planted - not just at homes, but at schools, parks, places of worship, and other areas that are in need of trees.

What are the qualifications to become a Tree Ambassador?

You don't have to be a tree expert! Tree Ambassadors start the conversation and Casey Trees schedules a time to talk with interested community members about all the details.

Casey Trees supports Tree Ambassadors and provides all the materials needed. Tree Ambassadors learn new skills and gain valuable experience.

What are the benefits?

This is a contractual role that includes a stipend for your work, as well as incentive fees for trees planted and community contact information collected.

You will meet others who share your passion for our community, local environment, and our city.

For more information or to apply visit:
caseytrees.org/ambassadors